What the press have said about Sten Sandell´s music: "Behind the chords is solo Sandell with his stellar piano work clearly to the fore. Although he clearly enjoys playing the other keyboards (use of them comprises just a small part of this set), it´s his piano work which is most accomplished and expressive. Thick, clanging chords, sprays of notes, inside/outside piano work is all molded into a cohesive personal style. He clearly relishes this instrument for its vast array of sonics and in his hands the piano has nearly as wide a variety of sound as an electronic instrument. His skilful use of the pedals for attack and decay, the percussiveness of dampened strings, the almost brutal string plucking on "Under the stone III" all come into play on this unique and diverse solo recording. Recommended." (Robert Iannapallo, Cadence, sep. -98)
